1958

"The Best year of our lives"

Foreword

With the passing of time the scenes of our school life will grow fainter and fainter and then die away like the school day memories of our grandparents. We hope, that in this year's Oceanian, we may bring back a year of those lost scenes. Now, as you glance through these pages, it is the hope of the 1958 Oceanian staff that you will recapture those moments---and the scenes will appear again.

Dedication

To Rodney Miller we wish to dedicate this issue of The Oceanian.

Rodney, who would have been a senior this year, was killed on Route 10 near Jesse on August 11, 1957. We'd like to pay tribute to a missing member of the class of 1958.

The JETS is a Junior Engineering Technical Society, sponsored by our high school and assisted by JETS Headquarters, Michigan State University.

PURPOSE

To stimulate interest in engineering and give actual engineering experience.
 To help learn more about the engineering profession and its various branches, and to decide whether it is the profession you would like to choose.
 To supply members with engineering information, guidance materials and help prepare you for entrance to an engineering school and the profession.
 To give an acquaintance with men who are actively engaged in the field, and through them a preview of the engineering profession.
 To offer an opportunity to apply the principles learned in high school subjects to projects of an engineering nature, and to try out abilities and aptitudes for engineering.

SENIOR SCENE

Mad rush by seniors trying to gather props for their play, "No More Homework." Paul Blankenship, who had the job it was to collect a stack of books, is still trying to explain to Mrs. Blankenship how Peyton Place got mixed in the stack.

Presenting the play had ups and downs. Johnsie Duty was in such a hurry to get to rehearsal that she tried to leap over the cable wire on the school lawn. She landed in a puddle, had to go home and change clothes.

There weren't any chickens in the play. Remember last year when F. Morgan's borrowed hen laid an egg during the performance of the play?

Camp Thomas Look Forward

A happy and profitable year is in store for ten Oceana High School seniors who will be employed as counselors at Camp Thomas E. Light for the next nine weeks.

Counselors who will be on duty June 16 are: Brerly Alice Cline, Danna Coates, Thomas, Bonnie Whelen, J. Lyle Pennington, Eugene Beardsley, Bert Rider, and Donnie Weir. The group are old "hands", having worked for the fourth summer.

The camp is owned and operated by Eastern Gas and Fuel Company for children of company employees. It is located on the Greenbrier River, ten miles east of Hintons

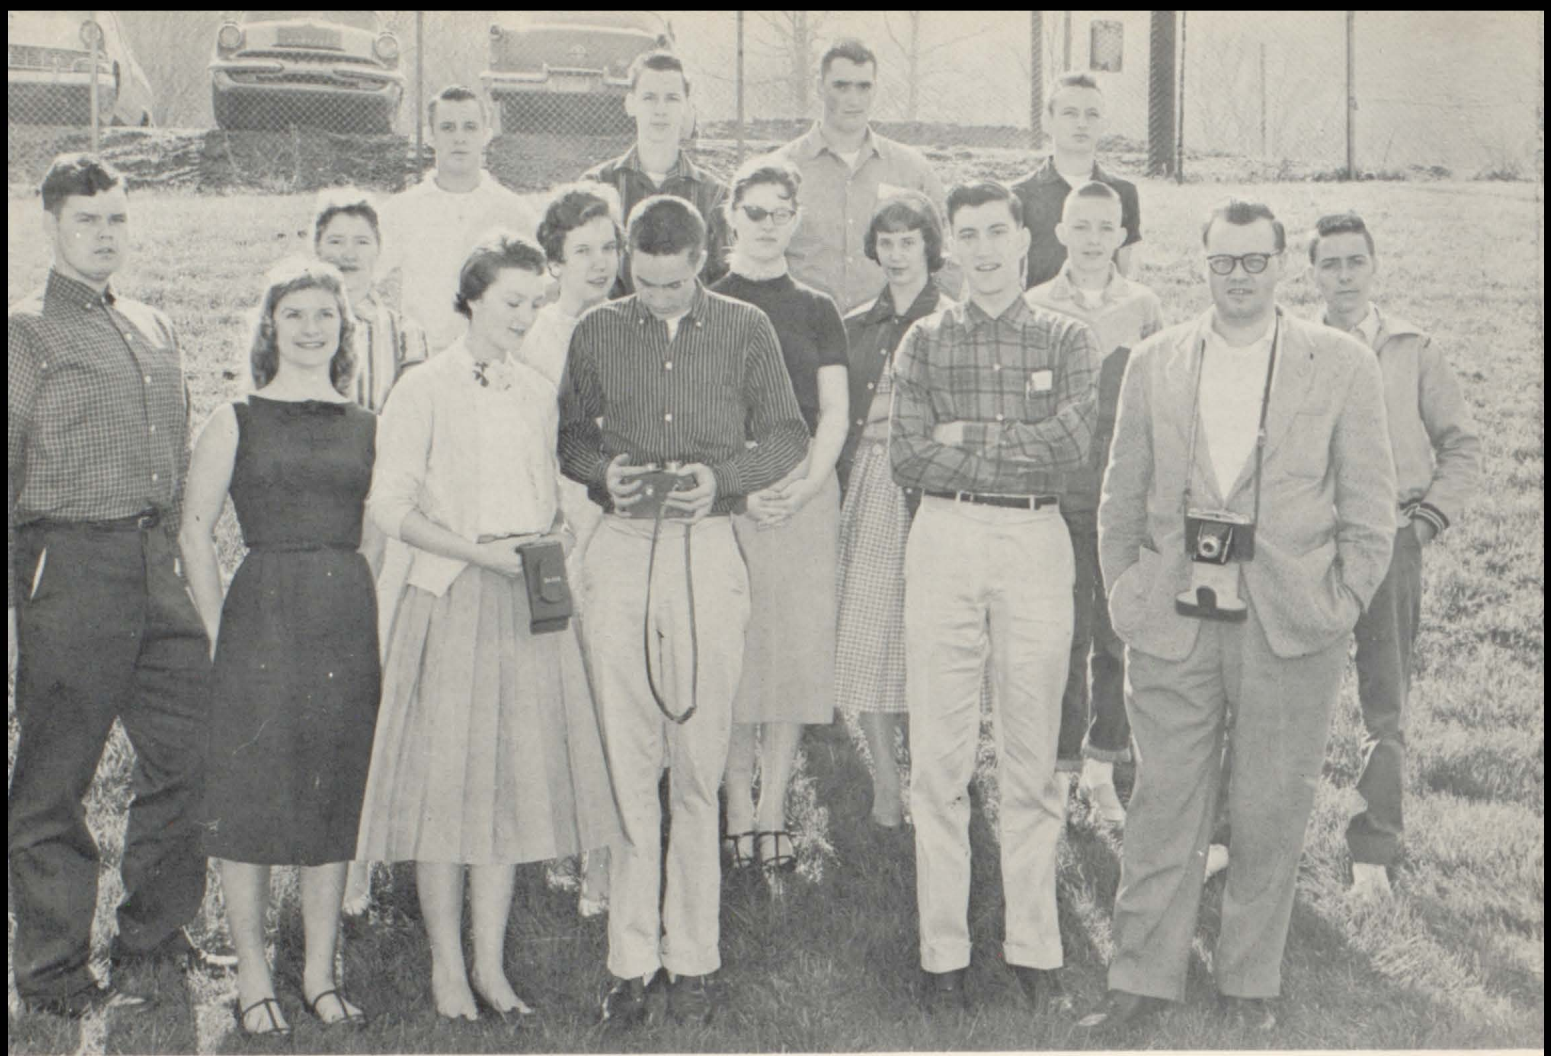

For long years I suffered,
Burning midnight oil,
But finally I obtained my goal
Through sweat, tears, and toil.

High School Band

The Oceana High School Band is always at its best whether marching down the field during football season or playing a concert. The band consists of sixty-seven pieces. Led by the seven majorettes and a capable drum major. These musicians, under the direction of Mr. Brewster, thrilled the listeners with their pageantry, their color, music, performance and beauty all combined to make them remembered.
